LAND NEW FORCES IN CHINA

URGE INTERNATIONAL POLICE AT ARMS MEET

DRASTIC MILITARY ACTION TO PREVENT WAR BEFORE GROUP

PROPOSAL CALLS FOR ARTILLERY VESSELS BE PLACED AT LEAGUE'S DISPOSAL

Geneva, Feb. 5.—(U.P.)—A French project for disarmament was issued today to the delegates of 57 nations at the world arms conference, providing for drastic military action to prevent war.

The project would create an international police force to prevent war and an international army to suppress war or assist the victims of aggression. The forces would be at the disposal of the League of Nations, which would organize this command.

The French proposal suggests that heavy long-range artillery vessels over 10,000 tons, carrying guns over eight inches, and submarines above a certain tonnage.

The French proposed that the league alone shall have the right to the disposition of heavy bombing airplanes above a certain tonnage.

The French proposal embodied new rules for the protection of civilian populations. It provided for the prohibition of the use by aircraft of artillery or projectiles containing poison gas, bacteria or incendiary materials.

Bombardment more than a certain number of miles from the front line in land warfare would be forbidden. Coastal bombardment would be subject to similar restrictions.

The international police force proposed would be permanently available, with complete freedom of passage over international borders.

The French announcement said: "France is prepared to make the following contributions to the international force in case of conflict outside Europe:

"Firstly, a mixed brigade; secondly, a light naval division; third, a mixed group of aircraft; fourthly, land warfare material without personnel; fifthly, munitions."

Geneva, Feb. 5.—(U.P.)—The world arms conference convention in plenary session today elected Tsuneo Matsudaira, of Japan, one of the vice-presidents, smoothing over a delicate situation in which threats of Japanese withdrawal from the conference had been made unless Matsudaira were elected.

New York, Feb. 5.—(U.P.)—John R. Voorhis, 102-year-old former sachem of Tammany hall, died today.

He had rounded out a full life. He saw the city of 200,000 grow into the great metropolis of today, and he himself became the oracle of democratic politics. He died at his home on Greenwich street, where for more than 60 years he had resided. In that time the fashionable residential district had been converted into the now Bohemian Greenwich village.

Voorhis was retired last October as president of the board of elections on an $8,000 annual pension. He had held the post since 1918.

LEAVE YOUR POCKETBOOKS AT HOME--

When you attend The Daily Dispatch cooking school forget entirely about your purse. There is absolutely no admission charge and there will positively be no "free will" offering or passing of the hat. It is free to the housewives of Brainerd and the tributary territory.

There will be nothing at The Daily Dispatch cooking school to even make you think of your pocketbook. Nothing will be sold but, on the contrary, Mrs. Frances Northcross, the lecturer, will tell you how you can economize and save on your house-keeping budget.

The Daily Dispatch wishes to make this point plain: Leave your pocketbooks at home. The school is absolutely free with no admission charge or offering of any kind. The only obligation is that you take home something; maybe it will be one of the beautiful awards ranging in value from a few cents to several hundred dollars, or perhaps it will be a method whereby you can save as much as hundreds of dollars on your yearly budget.

There is no "catch" and there are no strings tied to it. It is absolutely free, not only from a standpoint of admission, but Mrs. Northcross' expert knowledge of house-keeping problems is available for your attention and use.

The doors of the high school auditorium will open at 1 o'clock. Sessions will begin at 2 o'clock. The Palace theater was originally obtained for the school but because of the inadequacy of the stage due to the theater's new cooling system and the popular acclaim which greeted its announcement, it was found necessary to seek more spacious accommodations and, it is indicated, that even the capacity of the spacious auditorium will be taxed.

SMITH TO ANNOUNCE POLITICAL PLANS AT 3 P. M. SATURDAY

HE MAY ANNOUNCE PERMISSION TO USE HIS NAME IN STATE PRIMARIES

New York, Feb. 5.—(U.P.)—Alfred E. Smith's decision to support or oppose the presidential candidacy of Franklin D. Roosevelt who made three nominating speeches for Smith is expected at 3 p. m. Saturday in a "political statement" promised by Smith.

While Smith did not say so, it was assumed the statement would deal with his plans for the presidential campaign.

Several courses open to Smith were discussed. He may announce he will permit his friends to use his name in state primaries but renounce any intention to obtain delegates unless there is a "demand."

He may outline what he believes should be the party's platform and declare he will support any candidate who supports that platform or plank.

FISHING SCHOONER SINKS AFTER BEING STRUCK, 21 MISSING

GOES DOWN OFF HALIFAX AFTER COLLIDING WITH BELGIAN FREIGHTER

New York, Feb. 5.—(U.P.)—The little fishing schooner Eleanor Nickerson was sunk off Halifax today after a collision with the Belgian freighter Jean Jadot, and 21 persons are missing.

Officials of the Lloyd Royal Belge Steamship line said they had received advice from the skipper of the Jean Jadot telling of the accident, reporting 21 still missing, and six members of the Nickerson's crew being rescued.

Captain J. M. Lavinge of the Jean Jadot advised his office: "Collided and sunk this morning the fishing schooner Eleanor Nickerson of Boston 43:05 north and 53:45 west. Rescued six members of crew. Twenty-one still missing."

The position of the accident is about 150 miles east, southeast of Halifax in the famous North American fishing grounds.

The Mackay Radio company and the Radio Marine corporation had brief messages telling the disaster. One report said steamers in the vicinity had been ordered to stand by. Officials of the Belgian line said the Jean Jadot, due to arrive here tomorrow morning, would arrive at quarantine tomorrow night bringing the six survivors into New York.

STATE CREDIT UNIT HEAD SAYS FARMER'S DOLLAR CUT IN HALF

TELLS SENATE AGRICULTURE COMMITTEE; SUPPORTS THOMAS BILL

Washington, Feb. 5.—(U.P.)—C. F. Gaarenstrom, chairman of the Minnesota rural credits bureau, today submitted figures for that state to show that the purchasing power of the farmers' dollar had fallen 52 per cent at a hearing of the senate agriculture committee.

He approved the Thomas bill, which would abolish the federal farm board, transfer its activities to the secretary of agriculture and empower him to fix commodity prices at a level which would enable the farmer to get cost of production for that part of his produce needed for domestic use.

Gaarenstrom said the bill was "sound and practical in the light of our experience."

Paul Moore, representing the Farmers' Union of Cedar county, Iowa, predicted a "farmers' strike" if produce prices are not increased.

T. E. Howard, Denver, said that the government's policy in the past "has proved very aggravating to the farmers."

Question Survivors of Tanker Explosions

Marcus Hook, Pa., Feb. 5.—(U.P.)—Questioning of injured survivors of the explosions aboard the oil tanker Bidwell, which cost 17 lives yesterday, failed today to explain the tragedy. The death list may mount today. Olaf Rasmussen, 32, of Forest City, Ia., is believed dying of his burns and injuries at the Chester hospital, Chester.

FREE TRADE POLICY ABOLISHED; TO TAX 75 PERCENT IMPORTS

MOVE IS TO CORRECT ADVERSE TRADE BALANCE AND ATTRACT CAPITAL

London, Feb. 5.—(U.P.)—Free trade Britain died today with government proposals for a ten per cent ad valorem duty on almost all imports, effective March 1, and plans for ultimate taxation of 75 per cent of all imports.

In an effort to correct the adverse trade balance and attract capital, the government proposed a tariff committee which will recommend additional duties, either permanent or temporary, for the "general interest of trade and industry."

A maximum duty of 100 per cent was proposed against goods from countries having discriminatory tariffs against Britain.

The general tariff revenue was expected to be between £70,000,000 and £80,000,000 ($300,000,000) annually.

Announcement of the tariff plan in the house of commons by Chancellor of Exchequer Neville Chamberlain was tantamount to adoption of the measure. The national government has the strength to rush the bill through when introduced next week.

The bill also will authorize an unlimited duty on any articles now exempt, or an added tax on articles already dutiable where advisable.

The tariff is designed chiefly for revenue but is certain to discourage imports.

Chamberlain enumerated "only one or two of the most important items" which will be exempt from the proposed 10 per cent ad valorem duty. They included wheat, wool, cotton, meat and tea, but the chancellor added quickly that wheat imports soon would be restricted through the wheat quota bill.

He made no promise that the other exempted imports would not eventually be subjected to a tariff.

HOIDALE PROTESTS FILING OF SUITS AS POLITICAL TACTICS

ADDRESSES LETTER TO MINNESOTA BAR ASSOCIATION ETHICS COMMITTEE

Minneapolis, Feb. 5.—(U.P.)—Einar Hoidale, democratic senatorial candidate at the last election, today addressed a letter to the Minnesota Bar association ethics committee asking that legislation be sought to stop "filing of law suits against candidates for office as political maneuvers."

Hoidale was the object of several suits filed during the 1930 campaign, the last of which was dismissed yesterday in Hennepin county district court. The case came to trial after several delays but was dismissed when the complainant failed to appear.

The suit was brought by H. H. Fryneger and charged Hoidale with fraud in a real estate transaction. "If outrages of this kind are to be permitted," Hoidale wrote, "it will be impossible for an attorney to be elected to any office or position of trust where there are unscrupulous persons opposed to him."

Ft. Snelling Soldier Confesses to Robbery

St. Paul, Feb. 5.—(U.P.)—State bureau of criminal apprehension agents today claimed they had obtained a confession from Homer L. Oliver, 31, Fort Snelling soldier, that he held up the Mendota State Bank Wednesday and escaped with $1,337.

Agents said that Oliver was traced through the license number of the automobile which he used in escaping. The number was traced to a sergeant at Fort Snelling who had loaned Oliver the automobile. Three employees of the bank identified Oliver as the bandit, the agents said.

Oliver will be arraigned in Hastings, Minn., today. The loot was found hidden in the basement of Oliver's quarters, authorities said.

Ousted Evanston Negro Alderman Again Placed on Ballot Through Support of University Gridders

Evanston, Ill., Feb. 5.—(U.P.)—The name of Edwin B. Jourdain, negro, editor of a negro newspaper, topped the list on the aldermanic ballot today because four Northwestern University professors, two All-American football stars and a dozen fraternity men picked the city hall 22 successive hours and formed a fiving wedge about him when the doors opened.

"Pug" Rentner, next year's football captain at Northwestern, and Jack Riley, tackle, the All-Americans, led the interference.

Puffing in the wings were Prof. A. R. Hutton, Prof. Kenneth Colegrove, Dean James A. James, and Prof. James Yard.

Jourdain, 31-year-old editor of The Chicago Bee, Harvard graduate, former political science student at Northwestern, was ousted from his alderman's post by the Evanston city council last Monday.

His friends determined his name should be first on the ballot for next election, because of the advantage of the position.

AMERICAN, BRITISH, JAPANESE REINFORCEMENTS REACH ORIENT

Arrival of Seven U. S. Destroyers and One British Warship Augments Foreign Naval Forces at Shanghai

Shanghai, Feb. 5.—(U.P.)—American and British naval reinforcements reached Shanghai today at the height of a terrific aerial and artillery bombardment of the native Chapel area by the Japanese.

Seven United States destroyers arrived from Manila. The transport Chaumont with 1,000 troops was due before nightfall.

The British flagship H. M. S. Kent, with Vice-Admiral Sir Howard Kelly aboard, reached Shanghai after a record run from Batavia.

The American and British warships anchored in the Whangpoo river in the heart of the city, greeted by the deafening roar of mighty gunfire which rocked the city in the renewed Japanese onslaught.

Their arrival was part of the concentration in the war zone by these two major powers. They led the way for others, chiefly French and Italian, also mobilizing here, to protect lives of endangered nationals.

Issues War Call

Marshal Chiang Kai-Shek, above, former president of the Nanking government in China, has accepted the post as chief of the new military council there and has ordered his troops to fight to the death against Japanese aggression at Shanghai. The idol of China, Kai-Shek was forced by public opinion to change his former attitude of "peace at any price." He issued a manifesto tantamount to a declaration of war.

MRS. A. C. WEBER TO INTRODUCE COOKING SCHOOL AUTHORITY

Introduction of Mrs. Frances Northcross, cooking expert and lecturer at the Brainerd Daily Dispatch free cooking school, will be made by Mrs. A. C. Weber, popular Brainerd matron and club woman, Tuesday afternoon, Feb. 9.

The cooking school will take place at the Washington high school auditorium, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of next week.

Doors of the auditorium will open at 1 p. m. daily and Mrs. Northcross will begin her lectures at 2 p. m.

The auditorium has seating accommodations for 1,000 people.

U. S. LAND FORCES IN CHINA TOTAL 2,600; EVACUATE NANKING

CHINESE LINES WEAKENING BUT DAYS' BOMBARDMENTS FAIL TO ALTER POSITIONS

By United Press

American, British and Japanese reinforcements reached Shanghai where foreign powers concentrated defense units as the Japanese renewed their heavy bombardment of the Chinese.

The Chinese defense lines were weakening, but the day's bombardment ended with little change in their positions. Chinese aviators participated in the battle. One brought down a Japanese bombing plane.

Developments elsewhere included: Nanking: American women and children evacuated voluntarily, leaving on river steamers for Shanghai.

Harbin: Japanese armies captured Harbin, last stronghold of Soviet Russian influence in north Manchuria, after hard fighting. Temporary regime under Japanese military set up.

Tokio: Government spokesman said significant statement was forthcoming embodying "grave decisions" on Japan's policy in China.

Washington: Government officials prepared a new peace plan to be submitted to the Japanese.

Geneva: Japanese threatened to withdraw from world arms parley unless a Japanese was elected as one of 14 conference vice presidents. They were mollified when their demands were met.

Moscow: Soviet government practically ignored Manchurian developments while Harbin was falling to Japanese.

31st Infantry Arrives

Shanghai, Feb. 5.—(U.P.)—The 31st infantry, the first American expeditionary force to China since the Boxer rebellion, arrived today from Manila at the height of a terrific battle between Japanese and Chinese forces in the Shanghai sector.

The infantry, 1,000 men strong, reached Shanghai on board the transport Chaumont. Seven United States destroyers arrived earlier in the day, augmenting American marine and naval forces concentrated in Shanghai.

The 31st infantry will take their places in the lines along the American sector of the international settlement defenses, reinforcing the 4th regiment, United States marines, now on duty.

U. S. Forces Total 2,600

Their arrival brings the United States land forces up to some 2,600 men. In addition, the American warships concentrated in the Whangpoo river off Shanghai can land several hundred bluejackets.

Washington, Feb. 5.—(U.P.)—Admiral M. M. Taylor, commanding U. S. naval forces at Shanghai, advised the navy department today that the Chapel district of Shanghai "is now a total wreck" as a result of heavy gunfire between Japanese and Chinese forces.

THEY KNOW NEWSPAPERMEN

Los Angeles, Feb. 5.—(U.P.)—Two holdup men snorted with disgust when they found W. M. Bishop's police reporter badge.

"Newspapermen never have money," one declared.

"I have seven bucks," reported the indignant reporter, but he hasn't any more.

FIREMEN'S ARRIVAL REVEALS BLAZE IN HOME TO DWELLERS

OCCUPANTS LOOK OUT AT SHRIEK OF SIREN, SEE TRUCK STOP AT THEIR HOUSE

Members of the John Nesbit household at 312 Holly street, rushed to windows this morning at the sound of a siren shrieking near their home. They watched the fire truck approach and stop opposite their home. They saw firemen get off the truck and rush up to their house.

Surprised, they rushed outside and found, unknown to themselves, the roof of their home smoldering.

Neighbors seeing the smoke had turned in the alarm without notifying those in the house. The fire, reported at 9:04 a. m., caused little damage.

Two other fire alarms were turned in to the department today.

At 10:30 a. m. firemen extinguished a small blaze on the roof of the building at 315 South 7th street occupied by the Bollig truck terminal and the Brainerd Produce Co.

At 2:10 p. m. firemen answered an alarm to a fire in the wiring of the car of George Senn at 712 North 9th street. The fire had been extinguished when the truck arrived.

"Choosey" People like the way they TASTE...

IT'S just what you'd expect. People who enjoy the good things of life... are constantly looking for something better to eat and drink... and smoke. Something that's out of the ordinary.

In cigarettes this better taste can come only from finer ingredients. Chesterfields are more satisfying to the cultivated palate... because there's never any attempt to skimp on Turkish leaf.

These more expensive... more richly flavored Turkish tobaccos are added with a generous hand... and 'choosey' people... everywhere... like the result.

In fact Chesterfield's new way of mingling tobacco flavors and aromas is really equivalent to creating an entirely new kind of tobacco... one that combines the best qualities of Turkish and fine Domestic leaf.

Perhaps you've noticed that the paper in Chesterfields is whiter... purer. Thousands of dollars were spent on research to perfect this paper. It burns without any taste or odor of its own. A detail, of course. But it adds immeasurably to your enjoyment.

Smoke Chesterfields whenever you like... They're mild and pure. They'll never tire you as an over-sweetened cigarette might easily do. Day in... day out... Chesterfields taste right. Light up and see for yourself. They satisfy!

DIVERSIFIED INDUSTRY--

Diversification of Minnesota industry is strikingly depicted in a comparison of figures on the agricultural and industrial reports. It leads one to believe that Minnesota is, obviously, an agricultural Utopia and also indicates a decided upturn in other industrial pursuits.

Over a billion dollars worth of factory products were turned out in Minnesota during the last year, according to the biennial census of manufacturers. The department of commerce report shows 4,000 industrial establishments, employing wage earners who are paid annually 132 million dollars.

But, while manufacturing has come into its own, the agricultural phase has not been overlooked. Packing plant products were turned out to the value of 201 million dollars, flour and feeds of the state's mills aggregated 158 million dollars and creamery products worth 128 million dollars found their way to market from Minnesota sources.

These figures might indicate that Minnesota is primarily an agricultural state. And, as a matter of fact, it is. Minnesota's agricultural possibilities have only been scratched but that is true of other industry.

For instance, in the value of finished goods no other industry even approaches the production of the state's mills, packers and creameries whose business it is to process for the consumer the output of agriculture.

All industry is concerned with the condition of the farmer as a consumer. It is the market upon which manufacturing depends a great deal upon its outlet. Minnesota industry, then, is bound to farmers for success. Agriculture is both the source of its supply and the destiny of its finished product.

ONE-SIDED REGULATION DANGEROUS--

Railroad traffic has been on the down-grade in quantity but service to customers has been greatly increased.

One of the most important improvements is commented upon in a report of the Department of Commerce, which says that "generally speaking, freight is delivered today in approximately one-half the time required nine years ago." Credit for this is given to the marked advance in economy and efficiency of operation made by the roads in recent years.

It is a curious paradox that one of our greatest industries should have succeeded so well in serving the public, at the same time that stringent regulation, adopted on the ground of public necessity, restricted its profits and management leeway to the danger point. We know that the railroads are our greatest single employer and purchaser of supplies. We know that they pay gigantic sums in taxes toward the maintenance of government. We know that the country would be crippled without them. We know that competing transport agencies, unregulated or half-regulated, and paying disproportionate taxes, have taken much of their business away from them. And we do nothing about it.

The present Congress has many problems on its hands—most of them dealing, in one way or another, with employment and industrial activity. Not the least of its duties will be to provide measures that will put all forms of transportation under the same regulatory requirements, so that they may compete on a basis of equality.

WORLD COMPLICATIONS--

It almost seems, this winter, as if the fates had malignantly contrived a peculiarly vexing and difficult series of problems for the statesmen of the world—and, through them, for all the rest of us.

To complicate the infinite difficulties arising out of the world business depression there is the weary tangle of reparations and war debts demanding settlement. Then, to make that more intricate, comes the Sino-Japanese imbroglio, with all of its fateful possibilities.

Now, to cap the climax, we have the Geneva disarmament conference.

All of these problems are related. Tackle one, and the others must be considered. Settle one, and you have committed yourself on the others. Try to ignore one, and the others promptly become more difficult.

At the present moment, it is the relationship between the disarmament conference and the trouble in the Orient that is most striking.

Probably it is safe to say that there never was a time when as many people really wanted to see armaments reduced as at present. In some quarters this desire is something like a crusading fervor. The ordinary people of the world do not want any more war, and they are not enamored of the prospect of spending hundreds of millions of dollars, at a time when many must go hungry, to support armies and fleets.

And yet—there, on the eastern horizon, is a menacing black cloud. If you had friends or relatives in Shanghai, for instance, or if you owned stock in an American business trading there, you would find yourself admitting now that cruisers, destroyers and battalions of marines and soldiers can be exceedingly useful, at times.

What are we to do? What are our statesmen going to be able to do? Shall we blunder along, trusting in Providence and keeping our powder dry, until the force of events brings us to the edge of catastrophe? Shall we surrender to the rising tide of isolationist sentiment and try to go our own way regardless of what our neighbors do? Or shall we risk everything on one last great effort at international understanding and co-operation?

Those are profoundly difficult questions; and they must be answered, one way or another, before summer.

THE NEW DOLLAR--

During 1931 the value of the dollar climbed from an average of 128.8 cents in January to a high of 149.9 cents for the week ending December 24. Thus, the steady decline in commodity prices has done much to offset other factors of the depression.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

ANN and CECILY FENWICK have for years supported themselves, their younger sister, MARY-FRANCES, and their grandparents, known as "GRAND" and "GRAND." Because of this financial responsibility, Ann, who is 28, is unable to marry PHIL ECROYD, young lawyer to whom she has been engaged for eight years. Cecily, 22, loves HARRY MEKE, an engineer, but when he proposes she refuses to name their wedding date for the same reason.

Mary-Frances, 15, and still in school, believes herself in love with EARL DE ARMOUNT, vaudeville actor whom she has met without the knowledge of her sisters. He urges her to leave home and become his stage partner.

Ann and Phil quarrel when she hears LEFTY KING, who works in Phil's office building, address him with endearments. Ann tries to forget Phil by going about with KENNETH SMITH, rich and attentive, but when Smith asks her to marry him she refuses.

Mary-Frances agrees to go away with De Armount. They get into his car. The same day Cecily quarrels with her grandfather. She comes home with news that she and Harry are to be married that evening. Ann discovers Mary-Frances is leaving home. Immediately a search is begun.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XLIV

"NO, I think not," Joe Hill told Ann over the telephone. "The garage people said that he mentioned Blumount for tonight, and his landlady said she heard him say that he was going to Blumount. There is a popular resort there, you know. They may have gone there for—well, first, and planned to go north later. I don't know what it's worth, but his landlady said he seemed a decent enough fellow—quiet at least, and not a drinker nor a drug addict. She claimed to like him. Said he paid his bills. I couldn't get anything around the theater—nobody seemed to know anything about him. I'll be getting along now. I think I'll start scouting the highways. Heard from Uncle Chaney?"

"He called. But only to find out about the make of the car."

"All right. Don't give up hope. I'll call later."

Ann waited.

The telephone bell.

"Miss Fenwick, Ermintrude says that the man said he was only 22 years old. That is better, isn't it, than if he were older? And, dear, from what Ermintrude says, I am sure that as yet everything has been—well, perfectly harmless."

"As yet," said Ann.

"Yes. But she's only a child, and we'll get her home again. We'll find ways to keep her happy and sweet. She'll forget. I want so much to help you, later. I've been thinking of ways I can help—when we get her home again—if you'll let me I must. I—I— Well, I'll call you later."

"Ann thought, 'Now, isn't that odd? That pretty, fat little Mrs. Hill is crying, and I'm not crying at all.'"

She waited.

The telephone bell.

"Hello. Hello. Walnut 5845? Hold the line, please. Long Distance is calling Miss Pennywick from Cutter."

Cutter? What a queer name. Where was there a place named Cutter? Perhaps Mary-Frances was sorry. Had changed her mind. Dear, dear God, if you will, please—

"Here's your party. Go ahead."

Fenwick? This is Ermintrude speaking—Chaney Hostetter. I'm out here at a place named Fenwick—no, Cutter, I mean. Well, the constable says that a couple passed through here this evening going ticket-cut in a car as described. About six o'clock. Lickety-cut—he could just see that it was a fellow and a girl. Of course, there are lots of yellow cars and all—still, I don't know. Heard from Joe?"

"Yes." He says that the man did have a desk that he said he had to return to Denver, and that he has taken it with him."

"UGH-HUH? Well, I kind of thought that from the first. Now, what I was thinking was that I might as well come in and get hold of Joe and—well, kind of put this thing up to the police after all. If that was them passing through here in the yellow car they're headed for Denver—but it isn't going to do much good for me to trail along after them, three hours behind, in this broken down old boat of mine. We could get telegrams going on ahead—India, Mendel Springs, Torpnot Point—I got a road map here—so on. What do you think?"

"Oh, yes. I think yes. Perhaps I'd best get in touch with the police right away and not wait for Mr. Hill."

"Haven't heard yet from the folks that went to Blumount?"

"No. I don't understand it. I'm expecting a call every second now. There must have been time."

"Well, I'll tell you what. You wait till you hear from the folks at Blumount. There's a dog's chance from that direction. If I was you, I'd wait and let Joe or me go to the police. It's a man's job, not a lady's. If you hear from Joe, you tell him what I said. I'll come right on in now."

Ann waited.

The telephone bell.

"Miss Fenwick, I was thinking Mr. Ecroyd is a lawyer, isn't he? If he knows the district attorney, and we do have to go to the police, mightn't he be able to keep it out of the papers?"

"I thought of that, Mrs. Hill. He's a friend of the district attorney's. But he isn't at home. I can't reach him. But Mr. Hostetter just telephoned, and he said—"

"Oh, I don't know, dear," Mrs. Hill disputed, when Ann had finished telling her what Uncle Chaney had said. "No, I don't know. To me it seems so important to keep it absolutely quiet."

"Not as important as getting her home again. No. Not nearly."

"Well, dear—yes. More important, in some ways. It isn't as if she didn't have to go on with her life, and her school and so on, right here in Portland."

"But she doesn't. She wouldn't. At all. I could take her away—anywhere. I've had an opportunity lately—I've decided, positively, this evening to accept it. I can take her some place where it has never been heard of. We can live there—always. Switzerland—anywhere. I can take good care of her. Give her things—"

"I know. But she is so young. And scandals do follow—come

Ann's voice was low and formal. "Scandals don't matter. You—she is my sister. My baby sister. You see—that is all that matters. She is my baby sister. And I have to get her back. I have to get her with me and take care of her. You take good care of Ermintrude. Mary-Frances is my baby sister, and—"

"Dear, I know. I know," Mrs. Hill was crying again. "But it is her life, not yours. You haven't heard from Blumount, of course?"

"No, but—"

"Wait, at least, until you do. Wait until Joe comes back, and we'll all talk it over again together. Please, I'm older than you are. Such things—I— Well, I'll call you later."

Ann waited.

The telephone bell.

"Hello. Walnut 5845? Long distance calling Miss Fenwick from Proutville."

"I am Miss Fenwick."

"Hello. Hello, Proutville. Here's your party. Go ahead, please."

"Ann, they aren't at Blumount."

"Are you sure? Cissy, are you sure?"

"There's only one hotel there, and one store, and a few little houses. Everyone knows everyone else. We—we have to be sure."

"Cissy—Cissy—Cissy—Cissy—"

"Don't, dear. Don't."

"Where are you now? Why didn't you call me from Blumount?"

"The long distance place was closed. This is the first town where we could put through a call. We're coming right in, and—"

"But what will we do? What will we do? I don't care what anyone says, I'm going to the police. I'm—"

"Wait, Ann. Barry says his uncle knows a man who could keep it out of the papers."

"I can't stand it any longer. We need real help."

"But you have to. As Barry says, it isn't as if the police could reach right out and get her immediately. They can't. But just one little paragraph about Jonathan Fenwick's granddaughter, and Mary-Frances will be beyond the pale. Barry says—"

"I don't care what Barry says. She may be somewhere this minute, frightened, crying, trapped—"

"You're thinking about moving pictures."

"How can you?"

"Ann, I don't want to be mean. But she is my sister, too, and—"

"Wait. Someone is at the front door. It might be—"

She ran to the door and wrenched it open.

PHILIP ECROYD was standing there. He came into the hall and put his arms around Ann.

"You beautiful! I've come home. Dear, dearest, I got your message, and I came at once. I'd have crawled, Ann, but it took too long—"

Ann said, "Don't. I was talking over the telephone," and ran back to the dining room. Philip followed her and heard her say:

"No, it was only Phil. Yes. Yes, yes, of course. Yes, I'm sure he is. Yes. You know how careful he is."

She hung up the receiver.

Phil put his arms around her again. "Dearest—you'll listen and forgive me? Give me one more chance? It was all my fault."

"Never mind," said Ann, though he stayed in his arms from long habit. "We are in deep, terrible trouble. It is Mary-Frances. Cecily and I have been so full of our own affairs that we have neglected her frightfully. And tonight—"

The telephone bell.

"Hello, Ann—"

Ann swayed a trifle and caught hold of the telephone box. "—this is Mary-Frances."

The home of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Theorin, living five miles northwest of Deerwood, was the scene of a most pleasant gathering Saturday evening. The occasion was a reception tendered to Mr. and Mrs. Julius Brandt who were recently married in Duluth. Mrs. Brandt, formerly Miss Hannah Theorin, is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Theorin and that worthy couple spared no pains to make the occasion a joyous one.

Fashions—The short-sighted mortal who confidently predicted the downfall of the elbow sleeves is put to confusion as all except the tailor-made suits have sleeves reaching just below the angle of the elbow. Let us hope that long sleeves will be manufactured in larger numbers and at prices within the means of all females.

The Open Forum

To the Editor Daily Dispatch:

Just a question: Why does Brainerd or any other part of Minnesota want a fish hatchery?

Lets quit experimenting and theorizing and put practical knowledge to work and get some visible results. This state game and fish commission has been carrying on the system of fish propagation for the last 26 years or more to my knowledge and have failed to show and real visible increase. Why? Because where ignorance is bliss 'tis folly to be wise and a job working for the state at a nice salary that is controlled by political influence is much more preferable than no job at all.

If the public is interested enough to investigate and get practical knowledge based upon authentic facts I am ready to prove my statements thoroughly. I say abolish all the fish hatcheries except natural ones and we have thousands of them. In the state of Minnesota every lake of any size is a natural fish hatchery. Then why hire incompetent men to seine the lakes and substitute the natural for artificial propagation that has killed off most of the best mature fish by this absurd system of forcing spawn from a mature fish before it is ready to spawn. Nature is a delicate subject and science has failed to produce every time in this particular subject. Don't it sound reasonable to any person that any time you force a fish to produce the spawn artificially it is a serious mistake? There are more fish killed and destroyed every year where this system is carried on and plenty of proof left behind on the lake after the state's artificial spawn gatherer's leave to prove conclusively that the system is wrong and does more harm than good. If you wish to know what then becomes of the millions of spawn that the state claims are put back into the lakes I can tell you and prove that what I say is right. I tried to tell this Mr. G. Surber a few practical facts relative to said propagation and he said they would all be out of a job.

If what I said was true, and it is true that beyond any doubt facts are always different than fiction. Therefore I think it's time the public at large were told some truths about fish propagation and also several other things that are wrong about the fish and game of the state and the laws pertaining to same.

If it's possible to get my knowledge in print to the public can investigate it and use practical common sense based on natural facts to prove what I say is right then quit experimenting and propagate fish in a natural way and get results, pass game and fish laws that the people will respect and obey. We can only get these laws enacted by men with the practical knowledge gained from time and practical experience of positive facts as to the real habits of said fish and game in their natural every day life. Take the power away from the fish and game commission along with political influence and special privileges and make the fish and game commission produce results or put in a system that can. It can be done if we try hard enough.

Respectfully,

T. F. SALISBURY

GAR WOOD SETS SPEEDBOAT RECORD 111.73 MILES PER HOUR

BETTERS KAYE DON'S MARK BY OVER MILE HOUR, MIAMI BEACH

Miami Beach, Fla., Feb. 5.—(U.P.)—Gar Wood, driving the speedboat Miss America IX, set a new world's record today.

The veteran Detroit speed boat pilot negotiated the Indian creek course at an average speed of 111.73 miles per hour on two runs in opposite directions.

His speed bettered by more than a mile an hour the record of 110.223 miles per hour set by Kaye Don of England in Italy last year.

Wood had set a new American record of 110.78 miles per hour here a few days ago, but the mark was not recognized as a world record because it did not surpass by a sufficient margin Don's record.

He said then he was satisfied his Miss America IX was good for a mile or two an hour better speed and would continue trials until he got it out of her.

Wood's first run today, southbound, was at the fastest speed he has ever attained—112.434 miles per hour. His elapsed time for the nautical mile was 36.57 seconds.

On his second run, northbound, Wood traveled at the rate of 110.989 miles per hour, an elapsed time for the nautical mile of 37.35 seconds.

Orlin Johnson rode in his usual position as mechanic with Wood in today's trials.

Weather conditions were ideal. There was hardly a ripple on the surface of the waters of Indian creek. Almost a dead calm prevailed. The waters were choppy during previous trials.

THREE REMAIN IN CUE TOURNAMENT

Chicago, Feb. 4.—(U.P.)—With 59 of a 66-game schedule completed only three of twelve players remained in the race for the 1932 world's three-cushion billiard championship today.

The three leaders were idle yesterday but the fourth, Gus Copulos, Eugene, Ore., was virtually eliminated by Jake Schaefer.

Schaefer is the only player who has defeated Otto Reisel, Philadelphia, present leader, and he has turned in the two best games and also registered the two most decisive triumphs. In second and third place are Augie Kieckhefer, Chicago, and Arthur Thurnblad, Chicago.

Schaefer defeated Copulos 50-21, 33 innings, giving his greatest exhibition of all around billiards. He once scored 23 points to 1 for Copulos and he counted 25 points in his last 12 innings. Schaefer's last game is tonight against Art Thurnblad, the defending champion.

Welterweight Dies of Injuries Received in Bout

Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 5.—(U.P.)—Injuries suffered in a fight last Tuesday night proved fatal to Johnnie Fagg, 22, welterweight prize fighter, physicians said today. Fagg fell from the ring after taking a wild swing at his opponent, Al Holden, Worcester, Mass. Doctors said his death last night was caused by a sub dural hemorrhage induced by the fall.

Schwartz, Yarr, Hoffman Added N. D. Coaching Staff

South Bend, Ind., Feb. 5.—(U.P.)—Three members for the 1931 Notre Dame football team will assist Heartly (Hunk) Anderson, senior coach, in developing the 1932 eleven. Marchmont Schwartz, backfield; Tom Yarr, center, and Nardy Hoffman, guard, have been engaged to help Anderson. Ike Voedsich, end of the 1927 team, will coach the ends again. All contracts have been signed for one year.

Seeks Supporting Card for Retzlaff-Daniels Bout

St. Paul, Feb. 5.—(U.P.)—Promoter Johnny Salvatore of the St. Paul Boxing club today sought boxing talent to complete a fight card on March 1 which will be featured by a 10 round match between Charles Retzlaff, Duluth, and Dick Daniels, Minneapolis. Daniels and Retzlaff signed yesterday. Each fighter will receive a guarantee of $3,000 or a choice of 25 per cent of the total receipts.

Gophers Triumph 8 to 1 Over Michigan Tech

Minneapolis, Feb. 5.—(U.P.)—With its two most brilliant performers on the bench, the University of Minnesota hockey team today won a game from the Michigan school of mines from Houghton, Mich., to win 8 to 1. The Gophers, unbeaten in Big Ten competition, outclassed the visitors in all three periods. Daigle made Michigan Tech's only counter unassisted.

And Here's Pepper, Signed, Satisfied

You can tell by the grin that Pepper Martin, hero of the 1931 world series, is signed and satisfied. He recently put down his shotgun, called off a hunting trip and departed for St. Louis where he signed a bigger, fatter contract to play with the world champion Cardinals. Judging from the Martin smile, the salary figure must have been at least double the $4500 that Pepper made a year ago.

PRINCETON BREAKS HARLEM TROTTERS' LONG STRING WINS

The Princeton basketball team ended the winning streak of the Harlem Globes Trotters, traveling Negro team, at Princeton, Minn., last night, 46 to 31.

The defeat was the first in 59 games for the Globes Trotters while Princeton has been beaten only by the House of David.

The Globes Trotters will meet the Brainerd Merchants in a game at the Washington high school Monday night. The travelers are rated equal to the best floor quintets in the country today.

Minneapolis sports writers credited the team as being the fastest ever to appear on a Twin City court.

The Globes Trotters defeated a pick of stars at the University of Minnesota Wednesday night.

GETS MEDAL

Cambridge, Mass.—For the first time in history, the Henry Draper medal for research work in physics has been awarded to a woman. She is Annie J. Cannon, of Harvard Observatory. She has listed hundreds of thousands of stars in her work, and has classified them according to their spectroscopic records, and it was on this intricate work that she was awarded the medal.

Washington.—While construction of federal trunk line airways over the country is nearly 70 per cent completed, only 370 miles of state feeder lines have been constructed and lighted to date, a report to the U. S. department of commerce shows. The state mileage is all in Pennsylvania.

"WE'LL GIVE B. H. S. RUN FOR MONEY" SAY STAPLES FOLLOWERS

The Staples team is the same peppy team that hung up a string of 12 cage victories and suffered only one defeat this season and will give Brainerd a "run for the money" in the game here tonight, according to information received from the western town.

Staples followers were worried after Crosby-Ironton gave the home team a severe trouncing but when Staples came back to defeat Wadena, 24-14, the fans gave no more thought to the defeat at the hands of the Rangers.

Due to illness and an injury the Warriors may be minus two of their regulars tonight. Bob Wyle has been ill and Elmer Foster may be on the sidelines due to an injured ankle from recent practice.

The game will start at 8:30 p. m., preceded by a preliminary between an Aitkin second team and a Brainerd second team at 7:30 p. m.

Staples will send to Brainerd tonight a large following of fans. Staples and Brainerd bands are expected to be on hand to enliven the spirit of both teams and their followers.

U. S. HOLDS EDGE IN SCORING OLYMPIC MID-WINTER GAMES

Lake Placid, N. Y., Feb. 5.—(U.P.)—It's a long lane that has no turning, so officials of the third winter Olympic games—the same officials, mind you, who a few days ago were bemoaning the lack of wintry weather—today were looking toward the heavens and wondering when it would stop snowing.

For more than 12 hours it snowed without a let up.

Snow, however, was not the only topic of discussion in this little mountain village today. There was plenty of talk about America winning both the 500 and 5,000-meter runs.

Jack Shea's victory in the 500-meter was surprising, but nothing compared to the surprise occasioned by Irving Jaffee's triumph over the Norwegian stars, Ivar Ballangrud and Bert Evensen, in the longer race. But Jaffee, the boy who built up his muscles as a runner for the New York curb exchange, accomplished the feat. So today America has displaced the men from the land of the midnight sun as favorites.

Under the official system of scoring which awards 10 points for a first place, five for a second, four for a third, and so on down the scale, America was ahead with 29 points today. Canada was second with 13. The Norwegians had 9.

Just a couple of big gunmen, but you may recognize them as George (Rube) Walberg, left, and Gordon (Mickey) Cochran of the Philadelphia Athletics. They were guests of Whitey Witt, former major leaguer, for some trapshooting at his home near Woodstown, N. J. Walberg and Cochran will be heading southward with the A's soon.

Broken Rib Forces Postponement of Bout

New York, Feb. 5.—(U.P.)—Paulino Uzquidun, the "shell" slugger from San Sebastian, took his 12 gold teeth from the safe today and stuck them in his mouth.

The molars had been on a three-weeks vacation, while the Basque heavyweight was training for his scheduled 15-round bout with Ernie Schaaf at Madison Square Garden tonight. But Paulino is not fighting tonight.

The former wood-chopping champion of Europe is 30 and never has been knocked out or even floored in his long ring career. But, the old body ain't what she used to be because one of his barrel staves gave way during training. The broken rib forced the Garden to substitute another heavyweight.

PNEUMONIA CLAIMS MRS. B. A. BUTLER IN BRIEF ILLNESS

REMAINS TAKEN TO RANSFORD
HOTEL; FUNERAL RITES HERE
MONDAY MORNING

The death of Mrs. B. A. Butler was mourned here today by relatives and many friends while the sorrow will also extend to countless men and women who have been guests of the Ransford hotel on visits and business trips here over a number of years.

Visitors who made regular business trips to Brainerd knew Mrs. Butler by the congenial term of "Mother."

Death claimed Mrs. Bridget A. Butler at midnight last night. She was 76 years old and made a game battle against pneumonia which developed from a slight cold one week ago today. She was taken to the St. Joseph's hospital last Sunday.

Mrs. Butler had lived with her two sons, Ernest and Harry Butler, proprietors at the Ransford hotel, for approximately 15 years. Her body will be taken to the hotel this afternoon and may be viewed in apartment 120.

Funeral rites will be conducted Monday at 8:30 a. m. at the St. Francis church, Rev. James Hogan officiating. Burial will take place in Grand Forks, N. D., adjoining the graves of her husband and two daughters. Eli Butler, whom she married in Charles City, Iowa, passed away in Grand Forks in 1913.

Surviving besides her sons is a daughter, Mrs. Annette Harding, Roseburg, Oregon. A sister, Mrs. P. J. McGraw, lives in Minneapolis.

Mrs. Butler was born in Watertown, Wis., Dec. 23, 1855.

Mr. and Mrs. Butler were among the early settlers of this district, being engaged in general mercantile business at Aitkin for many years before moving to Grand Forks.

Mrs. Butler was a member of the St. Francis Catholic church of Brainerd, the Ancient Order of Hibernians and the Yeoman lodge.

Ingenious Device Saves Feed for Game Chickens

A. P. Cardie, deputy game warden, and George Trent, Jr., today placed a supply of corn near Platte Lake as a conservation measure to allay the possibility of pheasants and other game birds starving to death because of the snow.

And, just so that rodents and other animals do not receive the benefit of the grain, Cardie has devised an ingenious method to forestall this. He has inserted a wire through the ear of corn so that it may be hung from bushes thus making it impossible for rodents to get at the grain but still serving the pheasants, partridges and prairie chickens.

MILK MEN EXEMPT
Miami, Fla.—A milkman's early working hours may be a bit inconvenient to him, but they present a good argument when it comes to getting out of jury duty. George Wachstetter, milkman, was excused from the U. S. district court jury panels by Judge Ritter. "You might go to sleep in the jury box," the judge told George after the milkman had explained his job required him getting up at 1 a. m. every day.
